

Innovations in Harvest and Production in the Columbia River Basin Workshop

Planning for Abundance in 2001

Sponsored by
Columbia Basin Fish & Wildlife Authority
Columbia River Inter-Tribal Fish Commission
National Marine Fisheries Service
Public Power Council

October 4-5, 2000

Sheraton Airport Hotel 8235 NE Airport Way Portland, OR

For room reservations call (503) 281-2500

Draft Agenda

Wednesday, October 4, 2000, 9 AM – 5 PM

- Session One: Setting the Context for the Workshop
Year 2000 and 2001 runs prediction, how to make fish “fishable” and how to use the fish that can’t be caught
- Session Two: Panel discussion on overall plans and recent documents
All H Paper, NPPC Process, State Plans, and Tribal Plans
- Hosted Lunch
- Session Three: Production and Harvest, Short-term and Long-Term
Outplanting techniques and protocols
Performance of hatchery-reared stocks in natural environments
Short-term: Opportunities for harvest and production in 2001
Long-term: Pros and cons of mass marking, selective fisheries and supplementation

Thursday, October 5, 2000, 8:30 AM – 4:30 PM

- Session Four: Innovative Harvest – Management and Technical Issues
Introduction and panel discussion: state of the art in harvest management
Current status of harvest reform and innovation and related issues
Estimation and identification of impacts
In season forecasts

Economics of monitoring, data collection, etc.

Biological implications of marking and selective fishing

Fishery and assessment issues, status of potential solutions

Session Five: Selective gear – Real World Experiences

Canadian and First Nation experiences with fishers - Q&A

Washington experiences with fishers – Q&A

Oregon experiences with fishers – Q&A

Lunch Break

Session Six: Wrap Up

Options for Fishers

- Proposals for gear tests in 2001
- Funding sources, etc.
- Test selection process, etc.

Follow up for management

Adjourn