

2005 Salmon Return Increases

*Date of listing

The five-year average for salmon and steelhead returning to the Columbia Basin is higher today than when each of the species shown was listed under the Endangered Species Act. These figures include both hatchery and wild stocks. The overall number of wild fish has increased for almost every stock shown here as well.

Source: NOAA Fisheries